

Passionate about science, it's in our blood +

SRG is an award-winning market leader, delivering innovative and bespoke resourcing solutions to the broad-based scientific industries.

Each day we help people who are passionate about science, from laboratory technicians through to post-doctoral and senior management level, to develop their careers in a world that is ever-changing.

We have been successfully serving the scientific sector since 1990. The vast majority of our consultants and managers are qualified scientists so they talk your language, understand your challenges and can interpret and provide the right solution to meet your needs.

SRG provides resourcing solutions across all areas of the science industry, including:

- + Research and Development
- + Manufacturing
- + New Product Development
- + Quality Assurance
- + Quality Control
- + Regulatory
- + Validation
- + Technical Sales and Commercial

Our expertise spans the entire scientific-based industries, from forensic, pharmaceutical, medical devices, biotechnology and chemical, through to renewable energy and nano-technology.

As well as supplying over 1500 temporary and contract workers every day, we provide bespoke managed solutions and permanent recruitment services. Our tailored premium service uses a unique blend of candidate attraction and search techniques to proactively source specialist skills for middle to senior technical and management positions.

In addition to SRG's recruitment services, we provide in-sourced scientific contract services, from stability monitoring to laboratory stewarding and microbiological testing, through Synergy, our CRO. Defined outputs are expertly and cost-effectively delivered by our complete teams of people on your premises.

A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE +

"In my capacity as Human Resources Director, I have been dealing with SRG for approximately 11 years. I have always found that the level of customer service provided to me has been first class, regardless of whom I have been dealing with in the company, or the type of staff I have been sourcing. I have no hesitation in recommending their services to other organisations."
