Designed to meet the needs of SMEs

Our approach is simple. We're committed to reducing foreign exchange and payment costs for SMEs. We've designed a platform which is transparent and simple to use, and which maintains the safety and security of your funds at all times.

1. Putting you in control

We asked you what you needed from a global payments service and included multiple users, full audit trail and downloadable confirmations and statements.

2. Lowering costs

We believe in supporting smaller businesses, which is why we keep our fees low and offer you great foreign exchange rates no matter what your size or turnover.

3. Wide range of currencies

We already support fast, secure payments in all the major currencies (and a number of minor ones) and are adding more all the time.

4. Easy to get started

We have tried really hard to make our service as intuitive as possible. It's easy to set up your profile, register one or more businesses and start saving money.

5. Know what's going on

You can track previous payments, monitor the status of pending payments and check out which users have been active from your dashboard.

6. Easy export for reporting

It's easy to view and search for payments, check historic rates and get CSV and PDF copies of confirmations. You can even export your payments to a spreadsheet or accounting package.

7. Designed for you

The user interface and functionality have been designed to provide the features and reports demanded by busy people and dynamic businesses.

8. Secure payments

Our system is secure, and your money is protected to the highest industry standards. Live dashboard updates mean you can be confident that your payment will arrive on time.

Our story: there had to be a better way

Moving money from one currency to another shouldn't be shrouded in mystery. There's no reason for it to be expensive, and your money certainly shouldn't disappear into a black hole whilst you're waiting for a payment to go through.

The founders of Money Mover, a group of friends living and working on three different continents, were frustrated by the expense and lack of transparency they experienced when transferring money internationally. They decided to do something about it.

Speaking to friends and colleagues, they soon realised that even financially and technologically literate people accepted the status quo. They just went to their banks when they needed to move money abroad. Fees, charges and wide currency spreads were accepted as a fact of life, and they were never really sure when their money would arrive at its destination.

Even small and medium-sized businesses doing significant international trade were not benefiting from the 'wholesale' rates that they might have expected when they wanted to move money around.

There was clearly a gap in the market to provide a low-cost, simple and transparent service to people who needed to move money from one currency to another.

And so Money Mover was born.

“Money Mover’s success in bringing a new technology-led financial product to its clients is indicative of the incredible talent that is emerging from the alternative finance sector. Britain has become the undisputed global centre of sustainable financial services and technology innovation and Money Mover’s achievement shows the tremendous business opportunities that exist for fintech entrepreneurs across the UK.”
